

The Waterfallian

Number Two Volume Four

June 2005

If you're not part of the problem, you're the answer:

Down the rabbit hole like Dorothy

I have no cell phone, nor do I like their ringing
But thanks to the sixties I am a cellular being,
For that was a time of communes
Swirling together as one for a while.

With the Hog Farm, New Buffalo on the Rio Grande,
And Morningstar, where Lou Gottlieb said,
"I never did anything for gain, I wouldn't do for love."
And deeded the land to god.

Back then we declared ourselves against war
But the States, that elephant in the china shop,
Is still sending its soldiers to kill for profit.
Say "No draft!" – avoid the recruiters, don't join!

The dilemma is how to use the power of love
In a land with minds that hate.
For the people who now run our lives
Are the people least qualified to do so.

The way these old dinosaurs are running the Earth –
My contemporaries are ruining the world!
This is a plea to youth – don't follow these fools.
Take heart – don't be afraid – refuse to go to war!

Peace

*These ancient songs for modern ears
belong to all of us:*

You've got it

You've got peace
Like a river
You've got joy
Like a fountain
You've got love
Like an ocean

In your soul.

May we all fly

May we all fly like Eagles
Flying so high
Circling the universe
On wings of pure life

May we all fly like Eagles
Flying so high
Circling the universe
On wings of delight

May we all fly like Eagles
Flying so high
Circling the universe
On wings of pure light
